PENSIONS, BOUNTY, PRIZE-MONEY, PATENTS, Pay for Vouchers, Scrip, Back Pay, Lost Horse and Spoliation Claims obtained by the undersigned, who will attend to all other business before the Departments at Washington City.

Soldiers becoming disabled or diseased while in the service, are entitled to a Pension. Those who served in any war previous to the 3d of March, 1855, are entitled to Bounty Land. Those who served in the Navy during the late war, and were legally attached to a vessel or squadron on duty, although not participating in the taking of prizes, are entitled to Prize Money. In many Indian Treaties provision is made for payment of Spoliation Claims out of Annuities. To collect the large number of such claims now owned in this country—for the settlement of which no similar provision has been made by treaty—demand should be made at once therefor at the proper Department, and, if found just, a recommendation will be made to Congress to pass an act retaining the amount thereof out of the Annuities.

The expenses for assessing the internal revenue for the fiscal year in California were: First District, no returns; Second District, $6,741 19, Third District, $6,921 14; Fourth District, $8,446 51, and Fifth District, $1,943 35. The expenses in Oregon were $5,139 05, in Washington, $4,170 25, in Nevada, $5,785 34, in Colorado, $9,792 24, in Montana, $1,999 25, and in Utah, $4,101 62.

The official reports from the first supervising district show that during the year ending August 31st, 1865, there were inspected in the district of San Francisco, 63 steam vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 35,665 tons. Fifty pilots and 102 engineers were also licensed at that port. There were inspected in the district of Oregon 25 steam vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 4,448, and 34 pilots and 17 engineers were licensed. The aggregate tonnage of steamers inspected on the Pacific coast during the year was 38,128 tons.

Colonel Edwin B. Babbit has been appointed supervising Quartermaster for the Division of the Pacific. The Colonel is a native of Connecticut, and entered West Point in 1822. After graduating, he served in the infantry until 1833, when he was appointed Assistant Commissary of Subsistence, and in 1836 he was transferred to the Quartermaster's Department, in which he has since served. He was brevetted Major after the Mexican war for "meritorious conduct while serving in the enemy's country."

The New York Times, of December 30th, has news from Boston, that letters have been received there, stating that the cholera appeared about the middle of November in the island of Guadalupe, and had committed great ravages. In one town of but 6,000 inhabitants there were 107 fatal cases on the 22d of November.

A letter received by a gentleman of San Francisco from a friend at Wickenburg, Arizona Territory, dated January 23d, 1866, confirms the reported capture by Colonel Pollock of four hundred Apaches. He surprised their camp and captured them. Colonel Pollock is in command at Fort Goodwin.

The first soldier mustered into the United States service to suppress the rebellion is still in the service, and on duty at Washington. He was sworn in April 10th, 1861, orderly sergeant of the Washington Light Infantry, and his name is James Coleman.

NEW RAILWAY PROJECT.—To accommodate the multitude of people who throng Broadway day and night, it is proposed to construct an underground railway, the yearly profits of which the Times estimates at nearly $1,000,000.

General Meade expresses the opinion that 25,000 men belonging to the Army of the Potomac are living who have been disabled by wounds, and are incapable of self-support.

General Burnside is building a railroad in the oil regions, ten miles and a half long, which is to be completed in ninety days. Seven hundred men are employed in its construction.

Bierstadt, the artist, has made $120,000 with his brush in three years. He is now building a princely mansion in Irvington, on the Hudson, and drives the most stylish team in the Central Park.

MISSOURI CONFIDED TO REPUBLICANISM.—A correspondent of the Copperhead New York News thus whines about the loss of Missouri by the secessionists, rebels and "Democrats:"

The State of Missouri is doomed. The Republicans of this State are daily gaining ground upon the people. Missouri has been in the hands of factions for more than four years past. Some abortive efforts have been made, by good-natured men in this State to throw off the shackles with which they have been so long bound; but nothing has been accomplished toward that end. Thousands of immigrants are coming into the State from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa—all it is believed, or nearly all, Republicans. They will, of course, vote with that worthy citizen Charles Decius Drake. The Legislature will pass a registry act, in fulfillment of the Constitutional obligation imposed on them by the New Constitution. But there is really no necessity for such a piece of legislation. The sublime patriotism of the immigrants from the States above named, will of itself and without the aid of legislation, secure the ascendancy of Republicanism in Missouri for the next five years. A mass meeting convened in this city not long since, at the instance of a few intelligent gentlemen whose patriotism no man ever doubted, promised much, in advance of their assemblage in Verandah Hall; but they disappointed the public expectation, in toto; adjourned, and are now "blown about the pendant world without a local habitation or a name."

Not a word was said in the resolutions adopted by the meeting in relation to Democracy or Democratic principles. It seems indeed to have been the settled purpose of the managers of the meeting to ignore Democracy; and one or more of the speakers made it a point of honor, [as some lookers-on or "spectators of the speeches," made from time to time during the continuance of the meeting believe,] to abuse Democratic doctrines and to assure all who heard that they had never been friendly to the doctrine of State Rights. The true men of Missouri have been so often disgusted with the conduct of persons assuming to represent the public opinion, that they have ceased to take any part in mass meetings, or in any other public demonstrations of political opinion in the State. Conservatism is, in the opinion of many, the very thing for the times. D'Israeli said, many years ago, that a "conservative government was an organized hypocrisy." I am of opinion that a conservative party is little, if at all, better than an organized hypocrisy.

The only hope that now remains to cheer the American heart amidst the general gloom, which enshrouds the Republic, is the spirit of the old Jeffersonian Democracy. Let that spirit be invoked by earnest, honest Democrats, and all will yet be well. The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land, within the sphere of its legitimate operation, and its commands and prohibitions should be obeyed by all official and unofficial men. Individual right and personal security should be religiously respected in high and low places; and the principles upon which our system of free government were originally created, should be more potent than the sword. The wise and good should be commanded to take the place which the silly and vicious have too long held and disgraced.

CANADIANS BECOMING AMERICANS.—It is not merely the European emigrants who have arrived at Canadian ports during the year that have moved almost en masse to the United States as settlers, but the old time residents of both Canadas, of both the French and English stocks, have been migrating thitherwards, or rather westward, in huge numbers. Some of the districts are almost depopulated, and many of the cities are largely depleted. The emigration is to a great extent, of course, from the young and enterprising classes, who see better opportunities and better prospects in the United States than in Canada. A good share of them are going to our Southern cities, or to take a part in cotton planting, from which such large returns are certain. They will find room, abundance and welcome in any part of this great country, and can find climate or occupation to suit any fancy.—N. Y. Times.

"YOUR FARE, MISS!"—A young lady from the rural districts of Hoosierdom lately visited Chicago with her beau. Getting into a city railroad car for the first time, she took her seat, while her lover planted himself on the platform with the driver. Very soon the conductor began to collect fare, and approaching the rustic maiden, he said, "Your fare, Miss." The Hoosier maiden allowed a delicate pink to manifest itself upon her cheeks and looked down in soft confusion. The conductor was rather astonished at this, but ventured to remark once more—"Your fare, Miss." This time the pink deepened to carnation, and the rustic beauty replied, "Wa'al, if I am good lookin' you hadn't ought to say it out loud afore folks!"

NAPOLEON.—A wonderful mystery is involved in the name "Napoleon." It has been discovered that, by dividing the word into several parts, dropping the first letter each time, a complete Greek sentence is obtained revealing in a most remarkable manner the character of the man who made the name immortal. Thus: "Napoleon, apoleon, poleon, oleon, leon, eon, on." The words of the sentence may be transposed thus, "Napoleon on leon eon apoleon oleon poleon;" Here we have a Greek sentence, translated thus "Napoleon, being a lion, going about the destroyer of whole kingdoms."

ADMIRAL SEMMES.—The following are the documents in the case of Semmes:

Charge and specification of a charge preferred by the Secretary of the Navy against Raphael Semmes, late commander of the rebel steamer Alabama:

Charge—Violating the usages of war. Specification—In this, that on or about the 19th day of June, 1864, off the entrance of Cherbourg (France), the said Raphael Semmes, being then in command of the rebel steamer known as the Alabama, and an engagement having taken place between the said steamer and the United States steamer Kearsarge, ordered or permitted a white flag to be hoisted on board of the said rebel steamer, and took the opportunity of the cessation thereby caused in the engagement, and of the trust reposed in him, to make his escape from the said rebel steamer, for the purpose of avoiding the actual surrender of his person as a prisoner of war, and the responsibilities thereby incurred, and did subsequently, without having been exchanged as a prisoner, engage in hostilities against the United States.

GIDEON WELLES, Secretary of the Navy.
NAVY DEPARTMENT, November 25th, 1865.

Against which Semmes entered the following protest:

MOBILE, ALA., December 15, 1865.—Sir: "On the 26th day of April, 1865, I was at Greensboro, N. C., in command of a naval brigade, forming part of the army of General Joseph E. Johnston, and participated in the capitulation between Johnston and Major General W. T. Sherman, commanding United States Army of North Carolina. The condition of said capitulation on the part of General Johnston, was that the army under his command should cease all acts of war from the date of the capitulation, April 26th aforesaid. In consideration of which condition thus entered into by General Johnston, General Sherman stipulated that the officers and men comprising the army of General Johnston should return to their homes, and there remain unmolested by the United States authorities so long as they observed the obligation they had entered into, and obeyed the laws enforced where they resided. I have this day been arrested by order of the Secretary of the Navy; had a guard placed over my house, and have been informed that I am to proceed to Washington, in custody; there to answer a preferred charge against me predicated upon facts which took place anterior to the capitulation between General Johnston and General Sherman. This being a violation of the capitulation on the part of General Sherman, I respectfully make this, my protest, against said arrest."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

FRIDAY MORNING FEB 16 1866

"The Coming Contest"

Among the several journals in this State which claim to be leading exponents of the "eternal principles of Democracy" the Democratic Review and States Rights Democrat make the highest pretensions. The former journal which is regarded as the organ of the conservative wing of the Democratic party—for, eternal as the principles of Democracy are, even their infallible votaries can not agree as to their nature—leads off in its last issue under the above caption with a dissertation on Democracy and the expectation of its leaders in the approaching election.

The vigilant commanders of the Knights of the Golden Circle have been assembled in council. The desperate condition of this State consequent upon the long continued infraction of the natural rights of Democrats to hold office, has received their most serious consideration. The most astounding corruption prevails; not a Democrat is properly provided for out of the public crib and many of those gallant patriots are in a deplorable condition. Ex Governor Whitaker has been overwhelmed with grief during the late abolition war at the beginning of which he was so unceremoniously turned out of office, and this grief sore as it is, cannot be soothed by the plaintive notes of his fiddle, for the want of funds wherewith to purchase wax to "rosin the bow." O'Meara must have money or he cannot much longer defend the sacred principles of State Rights. Ben Hayden needs a clean shirt, and Andy Shuck wants the duty on ardent spirits abolished, so that he can resume his duties as a "log-roller," for which he was so famous in good times. Indeed, many are the pressing wants of those faithful patriots who would have saved the State from all its past woes if the people of Oregon had only been sensible enough to have confided in them. But the dark cloud of distrust which so long blinded the people to their best interests, is rapidly passing away before the light which has come from the "Sunny South." The time is not distant when the people will have an opportunity to avenge themselves upon their rulers for keeping them out of the Southern Confederacy or a Pacific Republic. Reinforced from their brethren from the South the Democracy will surely restore the martyrs of "Constitutional liberty" to the public teats from which they were so rudely thrust away four years ago. Those grave patriots are not "weary in well doing;" but, in the unselfishness of their hearts, they are willing to sacrifice the blessings of retirement for the salvation of their country. So, by their direction, the Adjutant issues a few General Orders whose thrilling tone is well calculated to restore order to the discordant and demoralized battalions in gray and prepare them for a more successful campaign than that which ended so disastrously in Virginia last April.

Here is a sample:

The fiery ordeal of the past five years has caused us to part company with many who to the casual observer appeared to be most ardent disciples of the cardinal tenets of the faith that is in us. But as sure as the laws of chemical analysis are immutable, so sure was the late apparent rupture or disintegration of the Democratic party (as our enemies are pleased to term it) nothing more nor less than the result of a natural law—the separation of the pure metal from the dross.

By this, it is to be understood that such renegades as Stanton, Dickinson, Butler, Holt, Stevens and Johnson are no longer to be associated with such pure metal as Vallandigham, Long, Seymour, Wood, McClellan, Jeff. Davis, etc.

Then follows an admission that many Democrats were engaged in the late attempt to perpetuate slavery by force of arms. To these, the patriots bid farewell, "perhaps, forever;" and to the dross—from whom it is previously, through mistake, no doubt, announced that the party is now happily rid an invitation to return coupled with a promise of reward if they will do so, is extended. Laying down the law of compromise which should control members of conventions, the orders conclude with this glowing peroration:

But to conclude we have only to add that we have full confidence that entire harmony will prevail in our ranks and that the Democracy of Oregon, "defeated but not conquered—overcome but not subdued," maligned and traduced by unscrupulous demagogues and pampered official sharks, and like St. Paul, persecuted and proscribed for conscience sake, yet like the fabled Phœnix, we will spring forth from the ashes of defeat, imbued with increased strength and vigor and gird on our armour, and as sure as that "truth crushed to earth will rise again," just so sure will victory perch upon our banners on the first Monday in next June.

So, it seems, the country is safe if it can only survive the first Monday in June next.

This address is intended, as is stated at its beginning, to show the spirit which should actuate "every friend of Constitutional liberty." By the context it appears that the country has been governed, during the last four years, by the enemies of such liberty, for none but "Democrats" can be considered its friends, and they have been out of office except down South, and there the [illegible] of Constitutional liberty arbitrarily spoiled the new government they were building up. This question as to who are the friends of Constitutional liberty will be wisely decided by the people of Oregon at the next election, by permitting those who displayed their attachment to the Constitution by constantly opposing all efforts for the preservation of the Union to remain at home a while longer, that they may repent of their misdeeds.

CURRENCY IN THE EAST.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from New Haven, December 19th, has the following timely observations:

Are you willing sometimes to hear from your "provincial" readers? Many thanks, then, for your current articles. They go to the root of all our financial oppressions. The demands of the Government in the form of direct taxes are light burdens compared to the demands of the merciless speculators, whose vital air is a redundant currency. They beg for more time. Time for what? To shorten sail in view of a coming storm? To get off their stocks at reasonable rates? O no! They want time to add a few more hundred thousands to their already immense wealth, drawn from the blood and marrow of labor and poverty. Go on, dear Tribune, and hold up as heretofore to the gaze of the thinking, the patriotic and humane, the evils of a redundant currency. The financial history of every age and country since the invention of paper money demonstrates the truth of your doctrine that a bloated currency is the chief cause of the present intolerable exactions from labor, and the threatened commercial ruin of the country.

HIGH TONED.—An illiterate editor of a one horse paper in Yamhill county attempts to cast a slur upon the gallant Sheridan. The chivalrous "Democrat" should not forget that he has been so long soaked in bad whisky that he is a stench in the nostrils of every decent person who knows him. Such animosity is perhaps, pardonable in one who has lost so many of his political brethren at the hands of the General. To show the literary merit of the journal which this scavenger attempts to edit we quote this sentence:

"Does the Statesman remember a bill called the confiscation act passed both Houses of Congress and received President Lincoln's signature, guaranteeing to the purchaser of confiscated estates a bona fide title to she, he or they and their heirs forever?"

GOLD IN MONTANA.—The Collector of Internal Revenues of Montana Territory reported that the product of the gold and silver mines of Montana Territory for the year 1865 was upwards of $16 000 000. In 1862 the Territory was a wilderness and uninhabited except by savages.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO FEBRUARY 15.

The Texas Convention

CHICAGO, Feb 14.—A dispatch from Austin Texas of Feb 8th says The convention organized [illegible] will incorporate into the new constitution the total abolition of slavery, giving negroes the right to testify in suits, hold property, sue and be sued. The convention is divided between original secessionists and straight out Union men [illegible] members favor negro suffrage. The president of the convention voted against secession in the last convention but was subsequently an officer in the Confederate army.

Bancroft's Address on Lincoln's Birthday Anniversary

WASHINGTON, Feb 12.—Bancroft was frequently interrupted by applause and particularly in those parts of his address which he emphasized and while speaking of Great Britain he said "Let the [illegible] the British Constitution [illegible] were on the people and we can't be indifferent to a country which produces statesmen like Cobden and Bright. But the best friend of free government was the working classes of England who suffered most from our civil war, but while they broke down [illegible] in sorrow always encouraged us to persevere." The orator's contrast of Palmerston and Lincoln, the former of whom after a few years would hardly be noticed beside Essex and Chatham but the latter to be remembered through all time, was received with applause. The applause was more emphatic, however, when the orator exclaimed "The Republic of Mexico must rise again." Portions of the address referring to the emancipation proclamation and the utterances of President Lincoln in favor of freedom, and especially his wish expressed three days before his assassination that the elective franchise should be extended to the very intelligent among the colored men and those who had served in the war, but that the franchise should be conferred by the States themselves and that Mr Lincoln never harbored the thought of exacting it, received earnest applause. At the conclusion of the address, Bancroft was surrounded by distinguished auditors who extended their congratulations. The House having resumed its separate deliberations, adopted a resolution offered by Washburn of Illinois, thanking Bancroft and asking a copy of his oration to print. The Senate adopted a similar resolution offered by Foot of Vermont.

From St. Louis.

ST LOUIS, Feb 12.—A fire broke out in the Ohio and Missouri Railroad carshop this morning, totally destroying the building and fourteen cars; loss $40 000, which is covered by insurance.

Railroad Defaulters.

BOSTON, Feb 12.—A dispatch from Concord New Hampshire, reports much excitement among the directors and stockholders of the Concord R R corporation, caused by developments which are said to implicate passengers conductors and other parties with embezzlement and issuing spurious railroad tickets. Property to the amount of $300,000 belonging to the alleged defaulters has been attached and legal proceedings instituted.

New York Bank Statements—Lake Erie Steamboat Burner Discharged.

NEW YORK, Feb 12.—The weekly bank statements show the same features as those of late weeks, viz. increase of deposits of legal tenders and specie, and an increase of loans and circulation. The most important change is the decrease of $2,300,000 in the deposits and $800,000 in specie.

James R. Colts the alleged Lake Erie steamboat incendiary, was this morning brought before Judge Gilbert on a writ of habeas corpus. The Government made no return and the prisoner was discharged by order of the court.

The Interview Between the President and the Colored Delegation.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—The interview between the President and the colored delegation on Wednesday, the 17th, was colloquial, and my first dispatch covered the substance of it as reported here. From a full report of the interview in the National Intelligencer filling two columns, I take the following. After the President had expressed a desire to do all things proper and just for the benefit of the colored race and if they could find no other Moses he would be their Moses to lead them from a land where they had been in bondage to a land of freedom, he said, turning to Fred Douglass Have you lived on a plantation?

Douglass—I have, your Excellency.

President—When you would look around and see a man who had a large family struggling hard upon a poor piece of land, you thought a great deal less of him than of your own master?

Douglass—No.

President—Well, I know such was the case with a large majority of you in those sections. When such is the case, we know there is enmity—we know there is hate. The poor white man, on the other hand, was opposed to the slave and his master, for the colored man and his master combined and kept him in poverty by depriving him of a fair participation in the labor and productions of the country. The query comes up then whether those two races, situated as they were before the war, without preparation, without time for passion and excitement to be appeased, and without time for the slightest improvement, whether one should be turned loose upon the other, and then both thrown together at the ballot box with this enmity and hate existing between them, the query arises if then we do not commence a war of races? I think I understand this question. Especially is this the case when you force it upon a people without their consent. Now, where do you begin? For instance, suppose Congress should pass a law authorizing an election at which all over twenty one years of age without regard to color, shall be allowed to vote, and a majority should decide that the elective franchise should not be universal, what would you do? Who would settle it? Do you deny the first great principle of the right of the people to govern themselves? Will you resort to arbitrary power and say the majority shall receive a state of things they are opposed to?

Douglass—That was said before the war.

President—I am talking about a principle not about what may have been said before the war.

Douglass—Apply what you have said Mr President to South Carolina for instance.

President—Suppose you go to South Carolina, suppose you go to Ohio. That does not change the principle at all. Each community is to determine the depository of its political power. It is the fundamental trust of my creed that the will of the people when fairly expressed at the ballot box must be obeyed. Is there anything wrong in that?

Douglass—A great deal of wrong.

President—It is the people of the States who must for themselves determine the matter. I don't want to be engaged in a work that will commence a war of races. I want to begin the work of reparation. I would that it were so that all you advocate could be done in the twinkle of an eye, but it is not the nature of things. I don't assume or pretend to be any wiser than Providence or stronger than the laws of nature.

Douglass—My own impression is that the very thing your Excellency would avoid in the extreme Southern States can only be avoided by the very measure we propose. I would state to my brother delegates, that because I perceive the President has taken strong ground in favor of a given policy, and distrusting my own ability to remove any of those impressions which he has expressed, I think we had better end the interview.

President—I think you will find, that so far as the South is concerned if you will all inculcate that idea in connection with the one you urge that the colored people can live and advance in civilization to better advantage elsewhere than crowded together in the Southern States it would be better for them.

Douglass—But we cannot get away from the plantations.

President—If the master now controls in labor would he not control the vote. Let the negro once understand that he has an organic right to vote and he will raise up a party in the Southern States among the poor who will rally with him.

Douglass—There is a conflict that you speak of between the wealthy slaveholder and poor man.

President—You touch the right point there. There is a conflict and hence I suggest emigration. If the negro cannot get employment in the South he has it in his power to go where he can get it. In parting the President said they both were desirous of accomplishing the same ends but proposed to do so by traveling different roads.

Washington News

NEW YORK, Feb 13.—The Herald's special dispatch says the House judiciary committee have rejected nearly all the proposed amendments to the constitution referred to them, also the bill fixing the death penalty to counterfeiting fractional currency.

It became public to-day that Mr Bancroft caused it intimated to be sent through proper channels to the British and French ministers that he should probably make some allusions unpleasant to them, leaving to them the option of attending. Both were in attendance however, as were all the diplomatic corps except Romero the Mexican Minister. The alleged cause of the latter's absence is he left his ticket at home and the inexorable rule prevented his passing the door keeper on recognition. The diplomatic corps feel aggrieved that they were not given a higher rank in the order of arrangement.

The Senate committee on Indian affairs are engaged in taking testimony about the alleged frauds by agents on the frontier. The evidence will be quite voluminous delaying the report about a month.

Yesterday the court of [illegible] accept the fraudulent [illegible] responsible to pay them although [illegible] holders. One million seven hundred thousand dollars [illegible].

The Union Pacific Railroad having filed a map in the interior department of the permanent location of the road west of Omaha [illegible] hundred miles the commissioner of the land office has instructed the local land offices to withhold from sale the [illegible] within twenty miles [illegible].

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb 14.—In the Senate Mr Grimes presented the petition of Messrs Cooper, Stokes, Maynard and others representatives from Tennessee, setting forth the facts connected with the organization of that State asking that the present State Government be recognized.

The debate on the Constitutional Amendment being resumed Mr Clark advocated the enfranchisement of the blacks. He would not for the present vote for the admission of any State except perhaps Tennessee.

In the House the Speaker announced the select committee on the proposed Bureau of Education to be Messrs Garfield, Patterson, Boutwell, Randall, Donnelly, Moulton and Goodyear.

A bill was introduced by Mr Garfield to establish a National Bureau of Education which provides for a commissioner to make an annual report exhibiting the condition of education in the States and territories and the diffusing of such information as may promote education throughout the country.

The House decided the Michigan contested election case in favor of Mr Trowbridge the sitting member, thus deciding that the soldiers' vote under the legislative authority though the act was declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court, may be counted.

The House considered the bankrupt bill without action and adjourned. This bill which until this afternoon looked as though it would pass got a staggering blow from Thad Stevens which developed the hostility of the radical men who charge that the measure will lend protection to disloyal men at the expense of the loyal and that there was no demand for its passage by the north.

The Senate committee on the Pacific Railroad have favorably reported with amendments the bill introduced early in the session by Senator Brown of Missouri, granting lands in aid of the construction of a railroad and telegraph from the Missouri to the Pacific coast by the Southern route from Springfield, Missouri to Albuquerque, thence to the headwaters of the Colorado Chiquito, thence along the thirty fifth parallel to the most suitable place of crossing the Colorado river. Thence to connect with the Southern Pacific Railroad in California. The corporation is styled the Atlantic Mississippi and Pacific Railroad Company. Its capital stock is one hundred millions of dollars with a land grant of twenty alternate sections per mile. It shall organize on January, 1867, commence work within two years and complete not less than fifty miles annually after the second year. The Southern Pacific Railroad chartered by California in consideration of connecting with this by a uniform grade and rate of fare shall have a land grant of ten alternate sections per mile.

WASHINGTON, Feb, 15.—The ways and means committee have requested the committee on customs to prepare a bill abolishing the office of surveyor and naval officer.

The Senate judiciary committee had under consideration yesterday Mr Howard's bill to reorganize the judiciary, which differs from the bills offered by Messrs Doolittle and Henderson, abolishing the Circuit Courts and establishing in each circuit, a Court of Appeals to be held by the District Judges from which latter alone cases are to be carried to Supreme Court of the United States.

Southern News.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb 13.—The Texas convention voted sixty-six to eleven that its members should swear to support the constitution of the United States. The oath was administered by Judge Everett. A resolution declaring no person coming within the exception of the President's amnesty proclamation should be admitted, was referred. Judge Robert Smith, President of the original secession convention, was appointed chairman of committee on general provisions of constitution. Governor Hamilton's message called attention to the absolute requirements of the general government touching the abolition of slavery, state rights and the repudiation of the rebel debt, the protection of the colored population etc. Judge Lattimer introduced an ordinance declaring the act of secession and all subsequent acts null and void and that no State has a right to secede which was laid on the table by a vote of 48 to 28. A substitute was offered by Judge Hancock, declaring the act of secession revolutionary and therefore void.

NEW YORK, Feb 13.—A dispatch from Richmond says The Daily Examiner office was closed to-day, by order of Gen Terry, in instructions said to have come from Gen Grant.

An injunction was issued to-day against Thurlow Weed and others, to restrain them from selling certain privileges granted by Secretary Stanton, to build a telegraph line from New Orleans to San Francisco.

A verdict of $4 800 was yesterday rendered against a stock broker firm for selling stock without consent.

The Louisiana Legislature passed the city municipal election bill almost unanimously over the Governor's veto. New Orleans has not had a municipal election since the surrender of the city in 1862. It has been governed by a fixed commission civil and military.

The M. E. Church South.

WASHINGTON, Feb 13.—A delegation from the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church South, waited on the President. Rev Mr Wilson said that they had come to assure him of their hearty co-operation in his efforts to secure peace and quietness to the country. He said they represented one thousand ministers and churches in Virginia and a portion of Maryland. The President received the delegation courteously, each member being introduced personally, and after a pleasant interview, the party returned to the Conference at Alexandria.

Connecticut Politics.

HARTFORD, Feb 14.—The Connecticut Republican Convention nominated Gen Jos R Hawley of Hartford for Governor. Resolutions expressive of their confidence in President Johnson, and pledging their hearty support and likewise confidence in the Union majority in Congress were passed.

From Havana

NEW YORK, Feb 14.—A Havana letter of the 7th says The supposed proximity of Chilean privateers, has advanced insurance on Spanish vessels, freights in which have declined and shippers show an aversion to chartering.

California Public Lands

WASHINGTON, Feb 14.—The land office transmitted to the Governor of the State of California a verified transcript of the list of tracts containing in the aggregate 528,140 acres selected by the State for internal improvements. The lands being situated in the former Benicia, are now in the Humboldt district. By the same list which has been approved by the Secretary of the Interior the titles to those lands is vested in the State.

Indian Troubles—Colorado.

WASHINGTON, Feb 14.—Complaints have occasionally been made of petty depredations by Omaha and Winnebago Indians. The Indian Agent alludes to them in his January report and says The charges are doubtless true in many instances. There is however but one remedy. Let settlers quit trading with and employing Indians and as far as the Indians are concerned these troubles will cease and the Indian Agents will be able to keep them on their reservations.

Senator Chaffee of Colorado has received a telegram dated Denver Feb 12th saying The Territorial Legislature by a two thirds vote, has passed a joint resolution asking Congress to admit that Territory as a State into the Union.

California News

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 15.—At a meeting of merchants last evening to take steps to secure for San Francisco her share of trade with Montana resulted in the appointment of two committees—one called the Colorado Committee which is to examine and report upon all the routes to Montana south of Placerville and the other called the Overland Committee which is to report upon the routes north of that point.

The Grand Jury have found forty one true bills of indictment against brokers for carrying on business without having first procured a Federal license. Warrants were issued to-day for the arrest of the defendants, who will be arraigned speedily.

Last night in coming through the Heads the ship Leopold and British bark Duke of Rothsay came into contact, doing serious damage to both vessels.

The steamer Moses Taylor sailed to-day with 450 passengers. The following are the rates of passage by the Golden City which sails on Monday next for Panama. First cabin, outside rooms $210; ditto, inside rooms $15?; second cabin $75; steerage $40.

SAN JOSE, Feb 15.—While the jailor William Hendricks was leading the prisoners in the county jail this morning two Indians confined for murder at Santa Cruz and Antonio Pinto for murder at New Almaden overpowered and attempted to tie him with a cord. In the struggle he wounded one with a derringer but they succeeded in getting his revolver away from him and all ran. He secured another revolver and pursued two of them up Third street exchanging shots with the hind one who was wounded and had the revolver. After pursuing them about a block Hendricks received a ball through the brain killing him instantly. The Indian hid in the kitchen of a house near by, shooting at whoever approached, carefully keeping himself covered. The house was finally stove in and he was dragged out badly shot. Pinto and the other Indian are at large. The Deputy Sheriff and people are searching the country for them.

A dispatch from Sacramento this evening states that the Specific Contract Act was sustained in the Senate by a vote of 18 to 10.

MARRIED BY A SCRATCH.—While a couple were being married in Preston Church, England, recently the mother of the young lady who was under age rushed into the church and forbade the wedding. The minister at once stopped the service, and, though the bridegroom had just pronounced the words, "With this ring I thee wed," declared that no legal marriage had taken place. Since then however the matter has been discussed at a meeting of the clergy, and the unanimous decision they arrived at was that the couple had been properly and lawfully married according to the rules of the church.

REMINISCENCE OF THE CASCADES—THE FUGITIVE MURDERER.—The escape of the murderer Jarvine J. Bush from the county jail in this city recently, calls to mind some curious events that have happened at the Cascades, the scene of his desperate acts, one of which, still fresh in the recollection of hundreds of our people, happening in the spring of 1853, will go to show that Bush is really a bad man and dangerous to be loose in the country. It was during the time of opposition on the Columbia between the Oregon Steam Navigation Company and the People's Transportation Company that Bush kept a sort of dead-fall, a sort of half-way house, between the upper and lower landing, near where the steamer R. D. Baker received and discharged her cargo. A man whose name we are now unable to recall had been in the employ of one of the companies for many months, and had left for Portland to have a final settlement. On the settlement he took a draft for the balance of his pay, and returned to the Cascades. Bush knew the man, and was acquainted with the circumstances that had called him to Portland and upon his returning no doubt calculated that he had about his person the money for which he had worked. After being interrogated he told Bush, at the dead-fall that he had settled with the company, but further told him that he had not got his money. Bush undoubtedly believed as much of the story as he liked, and possibly made up his mind that the fellow lied, and believing that he had the money at the time set a trap to rob him. They drank together a few times, and about dark started together for the house of Bush's father, some distance off, to get supper. On the way thither Bush drew his revolver, and demanded the man's money. A tussel ensued and they fell into a pond of water from a railroad bridge where they were when the scrape began. After falling the man gained the advantage of Bush and ran for his life, Bush firing the contents of two revolvers—twelve shots, as his victim ran. He had obtained possession of the fellow's watch, and about $15 before they fell from the railroad bridge. In escaping the man was obliged to pass through a deep cut about eighteen inches wide solid rock on either side, and while in there Bush continued to fire upon him, and it is still a mystery why he was not killed; but, as the marks of the balls show on the edge of the cut where they glanced from side to side the shots were a little above the range of his head. He was badly frightened, as may be presumed, and after passing out of the cut, rolled and fell down to the margin of the river, over loose rocks, lacerating his limbs, face and body in a most horrible manner. Reaching the river, he divested himself of all clothing, and plunged into the foaming current, where none would suppose a man could live, and swam for a distance of nearly half a mile, where he again took to the land and ran, as none but a scary man could run. He was discovered, and after a most exciting chase captured by persons who were at work, to whom he related the facts. No one there dared to effect, at that time, the arrest of the Bushes. The man was sent to Vancouver the following day by steamer, and placed in hospital, where his wounds quickly healed. As soon as the Sheriff of Clark county had a favorable opportunity he took Bush into custody. The trial was set, but before it came to the day the private [illegible] was "made way with" by Bush's friends, or frightened into leaving the country, as he was not to be found, and has not been heard of to this day. Bush was soon again at his dead-fall, retailing poison to his fellow men, where he remained up to the time the circumstances happened which resulted in the death of Sheriff Sullivan and J. F. Donnison, for which he was detained here at the time of his escape. He is unmistakably one of the most desperate characters now loose in the country, and his re-arrest is devoutly hoped for by all law-abiding people. Were we to take the stories of Indians about the Cascades, Bush has been the principal in many a foul transaction.

MONTANA RADIATOR.—We have received the first number of this paper, published by T. J. Favorite, at Helena City. It is printed on brown paper, and contains fifteen [illegible] of reading matter. The Radiator exhibits a small advertising patronage. It is full of local news, and was edited, in the absence of Mr. Favorite, by Bruce Smith formerly of this valley. The copy of the Radiator before us thus describes the town in which it is printed: "Helena is situated a few miles south of the forty seventh parallel, and on the one hundred and twelfth degree of longitude west from Greenwich. It is at the base of the mountains which surround the Prickly Pear valley, about fifteen miles from the Missouri river, and about the same distance from the dividing ridge of the Rocky Mountains. It is the county seat of Edgerton county, is nearer the geographical center of the Territory than any other town, nearer the center of the mines of the Territory—Ophir and other gulches being on the north-west, Confederate on the south west, and Alder on the south. It is the natural inlet for the trade from Oregon and the Missouri river, which are the only points whence we draw supplies except Salt Lake. The Helena Water Company declares monthly dividends, of from ten to fifteen per cent, on the capital invested. They have pipes laid in all the principal streets, and hydrants at every principal corner, for the [illegible] of our city as with pure water."

CHINESE NEW YEAR.—The Chinese of this city have been enjoying themselves muchly for a day or two past, in consequence of the recurrence of their New Year day. Fo Long, one of the leading Chinese merchants, and agent for one of the large [illegible], entertained at his place of business something more than one hundred of his people. Wo Kee, of the other branch, for want of room at his premises, was unable to entertain but a few, yet the manner in which it was done was highly entertaining to the outside barbarians who gained admittance. At the solicitation of Fo Long, who has become considerably Americanized, and may be considered a citizen in many respects. We spent a few hours with the Chinese yesterday. Their "set out" was of the finest order, and consisted of the very choicest fruits, wines, &c., to be obtained, much of which is of a direct importation from the Flowery Kingdom. A number of presents were exchanged between Celestials, of a costly character, and several of our own people who have Chinese employees, took the occasion as a fit moment in which to give them some token of appreciation where merited, so it must be admitted that the Chinese, by their [illegible] observance, [illegible] better known on account of it.

SUNDAY IN MONTANA.—The people of Montana require no [illegible] to compel them to observe the Sabbath day and keep it holy. The following is from the Montana Post, of January 13th: "On Sunday last, we were much gratified to notice that a large number of business houses remained closed for the day. The universal testimony of all classes of people, in Christian lands, affirms that more money is made by the observance of the Sabbath than by its desecration. Apart from the moral and physical necessity for a day of rest, it has been found that, even in a pecuniary point of view, it 'pays' to keep the Sabbath day holy."

CHINOOK WIND.—The Chinook wind has operated to prevent an immense flood in the Columbia about June next, by melting off the surplus snow, which fell during January east of the Cascade range and on the Blue mountains. We are informed by persons from the upper country, that Grand Ronde valley has almost transformed into a lake of water by the late melting of snow on the north side of the Blue mountains. From later appearances we think the wind must have "changed." In connection with the moon there was a change here night before last—yesterday was warm and pleasant. Oh, fickle, variable dame, Miss Weather.

THEATRE.—As the Actress, none who witnessed the performance at Willamette Theatre last evening, can doubt the ability of Fanny Morgan Phelps to be "At Home" on the stage. Her personations were excellent. Mr Redfer, Mr. Shelby, Mrs. Wood, and Mr. Phelps, all did well and the audience [illegible]. We have observed for several nights past, a great [illegible] in the music of the orchestra. There will be no performance to-night, but to-morrow evening will be presented Shield's admirable play of "Ryn—," and the nautical drama of "Black Eyed Susan."

CIRCUIT COURT.—E. D. SHATTUCK J. February 12, 1866. The Grand Jury, in the case of the State vs Lowery, John Collins, Burns, and M Fox, returned "not a true bill," and [illegible] were discharged, and sureties exonerated. ....Indictments were returned against Henry Wagner, and Geo. W. Wright ....The case of the city of Portland vs. John H. Egan, was submitted to the Jury .....Also the case of Lowndale, administrator, vs. Jud[illegible], was submitted to jury.

ARRIVALS.—The steamer John H. Couch, Capt Holman, arrived from Astoria yesterday afternoon, having in tow the sloop Harvest Queen, Capt. Dean, for a cargo of building material. The bark Helen W. Almy was in the river, but in consequence of high head winds was not able to come up in tow of the steamer. She will arrive on Sunday. The Couch encountered so much ice in the Columbia that she was forced for Portland via Williamette slough. She leaves this morning for Astoria.

BLOWN OUT.—The winds have prevailed to a very great extent about Astoria for some days, during which the pilot boat California was blown out of the water, doing some considerable damage to copper on her bottom. The tug Rabbit has weathered the gale finely, shipping but few seas.

SAILED.—It being more safe for the Pacific to proceed to sea when at Astoria, than remain knocking about there on account of the prevailing wind storm, she did not stop many moments when she arrived on Wednesday morning but under a full spread of canvass put to sea.

WON'T BEAR.—The ice on Crystal Lake, and in other parts about Portland on which our people enjoy the luxury of skating is too weak to be of good use. Early in the day yesterday numerous belles and beaux were out having sport but the afternoon was not suited to the occasion.

SMELT.—The first consignment of Smelt from the lower Columbia arrived on yesterday by the steamer John H. Couch. They are fine, fat and healthy and the fish markets were perfectly besieged with buyers from four o'clock until after dark.

CLOSED AGAIN.—The ice in the Columbia has again stopped communication with the Dalles. The Cascade which left yesterday morning returned to her dock from the mouth of the Willamette.

THE EXPRESS.—In consequence of the ice blockade Wells Fargo & Co will not be able to forward to their up Columbia offices their usual express for the present.

DEATH OF AN EX EMPRESS.—An ex-Empress died in Philadelphia a few days ago. We refer to Madame Haute de Iturbide widow of the former Emperor of Mexico, whose decease took place at her residence in Broad street. This estimable lady, who has resided in Philadelphia since the execution of her husband by the Mexican Government in 1824, belonged to a distinguished Spanish family long residents in Mexico. Her misfortunes as well as her good qualities had secured her the regard of the society in which she moved. A pension from the Mexican Government enabled her to educate her family liberally, and she performed the duties of a member of society in a faithful and exemplary manner.

Senator Williams Looking after the Reconstructed in Virginia.

HE FINDS VIRGINIA LOYALTY A MYTH—THE PEOPLE CLING TO THEIR EXPLODED FALLACIES OF THE CONFEDERACY.

[From the New York Herald.]
RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 25, 1865.

SENATOR WILLIAMS OF OREGON IN RICHMOND.

As set forth in a former dispatch the Hon Geo H. Williams Senator of the United States from Oregon and a member of the Committee on the Reconstruction of the Southern States recently appointed by Hon. Lafayette S. Foster arrived in this city late Saturday evening on a tour of observation bearing on the intelligent discharge of the duties of the committee of which he is a member. Up to this writing (Christmas night) Senator Williams has devoted his whole time to an investigation of the present actual condition and political social prospects of the Southern people, as viewed from the standpoint of this the most important capital of the late so styled Confederate States, because first in position, first in wealth, first in intelligence and equal to each and all in all the varied phases of disloyalty. The views of Senator Williams will be held to be all the more important when it is remembered that neither the Lieutenant General commanding the armies nor Major General and correspondent Shurz in their recent reports to the President of the United States touched upon the condition of affairs in Virginia relative to reconstruction the former expressly ignoring any conference with the people of the State and the latter asserting in his report that he was directed not to deal with Virginia upon the subject of his mission.

APPEARANCE AND MANNERS OF THE OREGON SENATOR.

Senator Williams is a gentleman of equally impressive appearance and manners, and to the eye fills the measure of an American Senator. He is nearly if not quite six feet in height, slim but proportionate of build with an ample forehead thick dark hair, dark complexion, and possessed of a dark penetrating eye. His utterance is both intelligent and decisive, and his reasoning logical, close and convincing. In personal manners he is wholly genial, entertaining and unusually instructive, and presents the appearance of a calm, unimpassioned man of public affairs, skilled in dialectics, and immovable in his convictions. He is evidently a representative man on the Senate Committee of Reconstruction; and to this reason is due his presence in Richmond on this official tour.

RESULTS OF HIS OBSERVATIONS ON VIRGINIA LOYALTY.

While it may not be confidently asserted that Richmond opinion in respect to the nature breadth and scope of the loyalty of Virginia bears the same relation to the State at large as the tail of the lion (cauda est index leonis) does to that august monarch of the forest—up when he is inflamed, and down when subdued—nevertheless it may be safely regarded as the reliable test of all those who have held public position in the national or State councils, the pulpit, the bar and the more restricted altar of medicine and belle lettres for the last sixty years, as well as of those—a very large and influential class—who adhere to the convictions of these, their representative men. Senator Williams has learned first that Virginia loyalty, as represented in both houses of the State Legislature and in the social circles of Richmond, is well nigh an absolute myth. His observations further teach him that the people have an enlarged personal respect for President Johnson, but are utterly devoid of respect for and tolerance of the United States government: hence this personal regard for the President by reason of his liberal course towards them they look upon as the very exaltation of loyalty. He finds, and says, that they cling with tenacious fondness, unexampled in all history, under the circumstances of most disastrous defeat and sectional humiliation, to the exploded fallacies of the confederacy as a benevolent system of government, and cherish with a righteous reverence the leading spirits both dead and alive, in the late giant attempt against the integrity of the Union, which was completely foiled by the prowess of the federal arms in April last. He also finds the peculiar sentiment of the Southern people, as such, indubitably and overwhelmingly opposed to the Congress of the United States and all its functional and legislative tendencies, owing to the persistent refusal to admit the Southern delegates to their seats in either house at Washington. They had confidently counted, by virtue of the counsels of certain overweening conservatives at the North, to enter the councils of the nation, and, in conjunction with these conservatives, rule with arbitrary and insolent power, as of old—thus realizing, by a master stroke of Confederate policy, their balmiest dreams of the opulent, overbearing, landed and slave driving autocrats of other days.

THE NEGRO ISSUE.

Implicitly supposing from various representations, of the baleful Virginia press, aided by suggestions of certain men at the North of bad eminence, that the negroes were to raise to-day, he had chosen that his first Senatorial Christmas should be passed here in Richmond—treason's very charnel house, wherein it is alive by the fact of its animated decomposition—and learn for himself the whole extent of the negro's offence. He is convinced that a more quiet, orderly and well disposed citizen than the freedman, in this fallen capital, does not dwell in all the pleasant places of the South. In fine, Mr Williams concludes that the great object of the war, next to the abolition of slavery, has been accomplished in the success that is now established of labor over a landed and rotten oligarchy, and that this combined result—the extirpation of slavery and the dignifying labor—is the end, through God, triumphantly attained in the great struggle now forever solved.

Senator Williams returns to the federal capital quite prepared to conscientiously enunciate these views and these convictions to his brethren of the Senate and of the committee he represents. He has had interviews with a large number of distinguished people both in and out of power here, and has not failed to religiously hear and note the well digested opinions of the chosen representatives of the masses, both black and white.

From Idaho.

The following items are from the Idaho Statesman of January 18th and 23d:

THE SLOCUM DEFALCATION.—The readers of the Statesman have a long time been pretty well aware that there was something going wrong in the management of the financial affairs in Boise county. We have, in fact, shown conclusively that the most outrageous frauds were being perpetrated upon the public Treasury, if not in the abstraction and conversion of the public funds, still in their being withheld from the Territorial Treasury and from the proper payment according to law, the public credit had suffered irreparable damage, and the holders of Territorial warrants unreasonable loss and delay. The prolonged attempt of the late Territorial officers—Dr Smith and Mr. Lamkin—to enforce the payment of the funds due the Territory from Slocum, is already familiar to the public. It is also well known that they were choked off, and driven out of office by the Governor and Legislature, because they would not make a compromise settlement with Slocum. But notwithstanding all this, it was believed by most people that when called upon, Mr. Slocum would be able to respond for all the money required of him on behalf of the Territory. There was additional reason for this since the bills for the relief of Boise county, and for the relief of Sheriff Crutcher enabled Slocum to arrange the amount of twenty-one thousand dollars by paying over a small portion of that amount in money. The funding bill had passed, and a new series of warrants issued, beginning with the extra compensation of the members of the Legislative Assembly. As the session neared its close, a rather unofficial intimation was sent from the Capital to Idaho City, that it would meet the approbation of the Assembled Wisdom for Mr Slocum to come down to Boise City with the little matter of ten thousand dollars, more or less, still due from him to the Territory and pay it over to the newly chosen Treasurer. In fact they even wished him to do so and were unanimous on the subject. Mr Slocum all this while, was constructively in jail for contempt of the order of the court, but really attending to his own business unmolested. Report said he was at Hog em. Friday afternoon being the last day of the session the members grew uneasy. Sundry board bills it were necessary to settle and it would be convenient for many to start for home on Saturday. So in a fit of exasperation a resolution was passed to send the Sergeant at Arms of the Council forthwith after Mr Slocum and bring him, and the money, straightway to Boise City. It was now only a question of time, and all would be right. Sunday and Monday came, but no Slocum appeared. Countenances began to elongate and show signs of uneasiness. There was a wistful look to and fro, and inquiring glances into each others countenances among the faithful that told a tale of suspicion that all was not right. There was too much delay. At last the stage arrived on Tuesday night with the special officer, and Slocum, the Treasurer but no money. The fact leaked out in a few minutes and what was before astonishment, now became dismay. There was not a dollar in the Treasury. Slocum was defaulter to the last dollar not even twenty five cents worth of "battery dust" or "real estate" to be found in the Treasury. After all the bragging and boasting that he was "ready to pay over whenever it was ascertained who was the proper officer to receive the funds," Slocum comes out without a cent to pay over. This may be properly considered The Last Act of the Session. His friends boasted that the Legislature would legislate Slocum all right and so they did as far as lay in their power. He has in turn "set them up" right. Altogether this Slocum defalcation comes in as a fit close, an appropriate sequel to the history of a large portion of the legislation of the Third Session. [illegible]

The drivers of the stage and Fast Freight line had a rough time coming down from Idaho City yesterday and Sunday. They had two feet of new snow to encounter, besides drifts and slides. The water in every stream and gulch is also undermining the road making frightful chasms in many places. In the canyon this side of Sampson's the road broke through and let their teams in all over. That happened Sunday night about eleven o'clock and they worked till four the next morning to extricate their teams. With great effort they got some of the horses through and left the others at Sampson's. The stage makes another attempt to go up this morning.

Our big thaw continues. For four days past it has rained a good share of the time with the mercury at twelve to fifteen degrees above zero. Cottonwood Creek came out of its bed Sunday afternoon and appropriated the whole of Main street to the depth of from six to twelve inches. No great damage resulted as the water was kept out of most of the cellars. The water would not have left the channel had it not been frozen full of ice. The ice had accumulated in the bed of the creek to the depth of four feet in places, by slight overflows and repeated freezing, so there was but little room for water to flow. The present temperature will soon clear out the ice. The snow is rapidly disappearing.

CHURCH ETIQUETTE.—It is fashionable with many to come late to church, long after the services have begun to the edification of the curious in the congregation and the comfort of the nerves of the pulpit. It has been lately decided on high authority, that the following rules are to be observed on such occasions:

"Let the lady advance one pace beyond the door of the pew she wishes to enter, halt, about face, and salute. The pew must then be vacated by such gentlemen as are in it, by flank movement. The squad should rise simultaneously when the lady presents herself, and face by the right flank then deploy into the aisle, the head man facing the lady, and the rest walking to his right and rear, the direction of the line being changed by a right countermarch, and forming again into line up and down the aisle, still faced by the right flank. The lady, when she sees that the coast is clear, completes her salute and advances to her position in the pew. The gentlemen break off by files from the rear and resume their places. Great care should be taken, of course, by other parties not to enter the aisle when the evolution is in progress, until it is completed.

COPPERHEAD CONVENTION.—It is rumored by those who have the best facilities for knowing, that the Copperhead nominations are all cut and dried—in fact, the nominations are actually made by the little clique of wire-workers that met in Portland a few weeks ago, as a State Central Committee. O'Meara, Avery, of Corvallis, and two or three other Copperheads, whose names we don't remember, composed that committee. O'Meara nominated Avery for Governor, and Avery nominated Ieems, for Congress. They then filled out their slate, with Abbott, of the new Portland organ, that is to be, for State Printer, Fay the "leader of the Democracy in the House," for Secretary of State, and a fellow by the name of Shuck, for Treasurer.—Oregon State Journal

Money Order Office, P. O. Department.
This Office has been designated as a MONEY ORDER OFFICE and is now prepared to furnish Orders from one to thirty dollars on any Money Order Office in the United States. E G RANDALL, P M
Portland, Oregon, Feb 12, 1866

The specific object of the Money Order system is to afford facilities for the safe transfer through the mails of small sums of money, so as to prevent as far as possible the loss of money letters, which contain generally but small sums. For this reason the maximum amount of a money order is limited by law to thirty dollars. Hence it is not intended that this system shall assume the functions and interfere with the business of Banks and of Bankers, by furnishing exchange for large sums of money. The mode by which safety is secured consists in leaving out of the order the name of the payee or party for whom the money is intended. In this respect the money order differs from an ordinary bank check.

An advice or notification containing full particulars of the order is transmitted by the issuing Postmaster to the Postmaster at the office of payment. The latter is thus furnished before the order itself can be presented, with the necessary information to detect fraud, if any should be attempted—thus insuring the transfer of small sums of money without danger of loss.

To the Thirty-Ninth Congress.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

O, people chosen! are ye not
Likewise the chosen of the Lord,
To do His will and speak His word?

From the loud thunder-storm of war
Not man alone hath called ye forth,
But He, the God of all the earth!

The torch of vengeance in your hands
He quenches; unto Him belongs
The solemn recompense of wrongs.

Enough of blood the land has seen,
And not by cell or gallows-stair
Shall ye the way of God prepare.

Say to the pardon-seekers: Keep
Your manhood, bend not suppliant knees,
Nor palter with unworthy pleas.

Above your voices sounds the wail
Of starving men; we shut in vain
Our eyes to Pillow's ghastly stain.

What words can drown that bitter cry?
What tears wash out that stain of death?
What oaths confirm your broken faith?

From you alone the guaranty
Of union, freedom, peace, we claim;
We urge no conqueror's terms of shame.

Alas! no victor's pride is ours,
Who bend above our triumphs won
Like David o'er his rebel son.

Be men, not beggars. Cancel all
By one brave, generous action; trust
Your better instincts, and be just!

Make all men peers before the law,
Take hands from off the negro's throat,
Give black and white an equal vote.

Keep all your forfeit lives and lands,
But give the common law's redress
To Labor's utter nakedness.

Revive the old heroic will,
Be in the right as brave and strong
As ye have proved yourselves in wrong.

Defeat shall then be victory,
Your loss the wealth of full amends,
And hate be love and foes be friends.

Then buried be the dreadful past,
Its common slain be mourned, and let
Its memories soften to regret.

Then shall the Union's mother-heart
Her lost and wandering ones recall,
Forgiving and restoring all;

Stretch hands and bid ye welcome home!

PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S EARLY LIFE.—A correspondent of the Chicago Republican, traveling recently in Mason county, Illinois, called to see a Mrs. Wilcox, formerly Mrs. Armstrong. Years ago, says he, when this goodly State of ours was comparatively new, there came to the little village of Salem, Menard county, a tall, plain and rather awkward young man to help in the mill, tend store and make himself generally useful. After serving in this capacity for some time, and making friends of all who came in contact with him at mill or grocery, he was appointed county surveyor, and went to live with a farmer named Armstrong, residing in the neighborhood. This Mrs Wilcox whom I went to see was the wife of this Armstrong, and the slender, raw-boned shop-tender and surveyor was Abraham Lincoln.

"The first time I ever saw him," said Mrs. Wilcox, "I went trading. I told Armstrong, as soon as I got home, there was a new clerk at the store, and I liked him first rate, he was so pleasant and kind. A few days afterwards Armstrong went to the mill, and when he came home he told me he had seen the new clerk I bragged upon so much, and he liked him too. They had got to lifting in the mill, a parcel of them, and the clerk outlifted every man there."

"Well, he lived with you, did he not, afterwards?"

"Yes; as soon as he got to surveying he came to our house and made it his home. I made two pair of buck-skin breeches for him—shirts, too. Armstrong used to carry chain for him. They were great cronies. Wherever Armstrong went Lincoln would go too. He was poor and had no horse; we had several, and he always rode one of our creatures. Sometimes they would be gone a week at a time to Jacksonville, Springfield, or somewhere else. They lied about him when he was nominated for President; said he used to drink; but he never did. I never saw or heard of his drinking. The young folks thought him kind of queer. When there was a frolic, or any doings among them, he would always go, but never danced or cut up. He amused himself by playing with the children, or telling some funny story to the old folks. Yes, he stayed with us till we moved to Missouri, and I never saw him angry the whole time. He used to say he would never marry until he could support a wife comfortably, and he didn't. We lived in Missouri five years, and when we came back he had gone to Springfield. I went down there trading pretty soon, and was standing in a store door looking at the folks, when I saw him coming down the street. A lady was with him, his wife, and everybody was bowing and shaking hands with him. I stood up straight in the door, a little back like, thinking maybe he would not want to see me with his wife and all those people around; I never could put on any airs, and he knew it. He saw me, though, before he got to me, and came up laughing and shaking hands, real glad to see me; asked after Armstrong and all the rest, just as if he was one of the family. I tell you, F., he was a kind, good-hearted man, and a true gentleman. He defended my son (her son was tried for homicide, and acquitted), and after the trial, when I told him I had no money to pay him, he laughed at me, and told me whenever I was in any trouble to come to him. Everybody told me I was foolish to write to him about my son, who was sick in the army—that he had enough else to attend to now besides looking after me and my family. But when a telegraph dispatch discharging my son, and a letter to me, too, came, they found out that he had not forgotten his old home down in Menard."

"The Women of the South," who lately sent a petition to the President, in behalf of Jeff. Davis, said:

"Will you not release him before the dreary winter comes, bringing with it so much of [illegible] to his frail and delicate body, and, what is far worse than the most acute physical suffering, the wintry chill of hope deferred to his soul, which pines for freedom? Give him back, we implore you, to the women of the South. He is ours and we love him!"

"Let them kiss him for his mother." Do, Mr. President, allow the loving creatures to press their lips to him once more. Is he not theirs, and don't they love him? O, cruel man, how can you resist an appeal so urgent? Please let the women of the South minister to him during his "confinement," and soothe the pangs that rack his delicate body. What if the poor old lady should die? Ugh!—Yreka Journal.

BISHOP ROSECRANS SHOT AT AND SLIGHTLY WOUNDED.—On Saturday evening last Bishop Rosecrans left the Cathedral about nine o'clock, for the purpose of going to his home at the Catholic Seminary, near Sedamsville. He had left orders with his servant to have his carriage at the Cathedral by ten o'clock, but, being ready before that time, concluded to walk. Just after passing the track of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, on the Sedamsville pike, he was accosted by two men, who demanded his money. He made no reply but hastened his pace into a run. One of the men then drew a pistol and fired at him, the ball taking effect in the left leg, just below the knee. Even this did not stop the Bishop, who succeeded in making good his escape. The wound, upon examination, proved to be merely one of the flesh and, although painful, is by no means serious. No clue has yet been obtained to the perpetrators of the outrage.—Cincinnati Gazette, Dec 22d.

SOUTHERN PRIDE.—We heard recently an amusing instance of Southern pride. A Tennessee lady was in Washington, interceding for a pardon for her rebel husband. Her application to the President was well received, and he treated her with great consideration and kindness. In speaking of her interviews with him to a friend, the lady remarked that the President was very cordial and gracious, spoke very kindly of her husband and his family, and invited her to stay at the White House while she remained in Washington. "Well," said her friend, "you accepted the President's hospitality?" "No," remarked the lady, "we never knew the Johnsons." We wonder if the President will know the Browns!—New Bedford Mercury.

ARTEMUS WARD.—It seems to be definitely settled that the Artemus Ward who perished in Worcester, Massachusetts, from suffocation, was not Charles F. Browne, the humorist, who had assumed that as a nomme de plume. The Boston Post, of October 30th, gives full particulars of the tragedy. We may add that the Ward family was one of distinction in Massachusetts in revolutionary times, and that two named "Artemus," were eminent men. One was a General much beloved by Washington, and the other a Judge, who did honor to the Bench.

LIVING IN CHICAGO.—A matronly lady, with a physiognomy indicating that she was strong minded, was put on the witness stand in New Haven to testify in a case on trial. Being pestered a little by the counsel for the defense she exclaimed, raising herself up to her full hight and with a gleam of triumph in her eyes: "I ain't afraid of the whole of you, and you can't scare me. I have lived in Chicago ten years, and any one that has lived in Chicago ten years needn't be afraid of the d—l."

General Remarks.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp required thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whose use it is made may stamp it before it is used, but in no case can it be legally used without a stamp. An instrument subject to stamp duty but issued and used unstamped prior to August 1, 1864, may be rendered valid by stamping it as required by section 163 of the Act of June 30, 1864. If issued since, the case falls under section 158 of said Act as amended by the Act of March 3, 1865.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than by writ, viz.: summons, warrant, publication, petition, &c., in which cases these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the peace, notary public or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits or legal proceedings.

Certificates of Loan, in which there shall appear any written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at a time designated, are subject to stamp duty as "Promissory Notes."

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same stamp duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage at the time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps denoting a duty of fifty cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamp to which the instrument is liable under the law may be affixed and cancelled by either of them.

In conveyances of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required; and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rate required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

THE STANDARD AMERICAN BILLIARD TABLES! AND COMBINATION CUSHIONS.

MESSRS. PHELAN & COLLENDER

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION of persons wanting Billiard Tables to the great superiority of the above tables, manufactured exclusively at their establishment.

At the Billiard Congress of 1863, composed of all the first-class players of America, it was unanimously resolved that tables of our manufacture should be used at all matches for the Championship, as the best and only reliable tables.

These Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players and most competent judges, who have universally pronounced them unequaled for general excellence and durability.

Seven distinct patents for improvements in Billiard Tables have been granted to us by the United States Patent Office, and we have lately obtained a Patent from the French Government, for our improvement in Billiard Cushions.

We employ, in the construction of our tables, a variety of machines specially made for the purpose, by means of which we are enabled to insure a scientific and mechanical accuracy hitherto unknown in Billiard manufacture.

Having a long experience and thorough knowledge of all the appliances of Billiards and constantly on hand a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, we are prepared to furnish everything required in the Billiard line with unprecedented dispatch.

The eminent French Billiard Player, M. Berger, has published the following opinion:

"NEW YORK, 2d August 1861.

"On the eve of leaving the United States, I am happy to declare to all amateurs of Billiards that, after a tour of eleven months through the principal cities, I have been enabled to judge in a satisfactory manner of the superiority of the Billiard Tables manufactured by Phelan & Collender. The system of manufacturing is so superior that I am happy to introduce their style of cushion into France. They have united to their manufacture of American Billiard Tables that of the French Tables, of remarkable excellence and beauty. For these reasons, I am happy to make this declaration.

"BERGER, CLAUDIUS,
Prof. of Billiards, Paris."

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We sell first class articles at a fair price, and will not make an inferior article at any price.

Orders by mail carefully and promptly executed. Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists sent by mail. The "BILLIARD CUE," a journal published in the interest of Billiards and containing details of all novelties, a copious record of Billiard news and everything of interest to amateurs of Billiards, sent free on application.

M. E. HUGHES,
730 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal., is our only authorized Agent on the Pacific coast, to whom all orders should be addressed.

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
